Canadian publishers, self-publishers and producers, leave your mark on Canada's national heritage

THE PROGRAM

Through the legal deposit program, Library and Archives Canada (LAC) collects publications and productions created in Canada, and intended for sale or distribution. Canadian publishers and producers are invited to deposit their works with LAC to ensure they are preserved and made accessible to Canadians today and in the future.

WHY PARTICIPATE

Your contributions are essential to build a representative portrait of the heritage of every era, and to make this heritage available to historians, researchers, students, creators and others who may wish to draw on it in the future.
